

People who do not know the etiquette on when or when not to use a cell phone, are already a large and still growing problem in this country. Adding to the areas where people can be rude on the phone only adds to the problem, and a growing anti-cellphone sentiment.